

Quarterly e-newsletter on news, resources & policies highlighting revitalization in the mid-Atlantic states

TOP STORIES

Life, Liberty, and Sustainability Find out why Philadelphia will be on everyone's revitalization radars this coming April.

EPA awards $4 million for area-wide redevelopment Learn how Region 3 communities are applying the Agency's newest brownfields grant, geared towards revitalizing economically disadvantaged areas.

Scraps to scrubs in Virginia See how perseverance & partnering pay off when the first medical school students start their school year.

How a post-industrial railway city got back on track When it comes to brownfields redevelopment, no one does it quite like Pennsylvania's Johnstown Redevelopment Authority.

RESOURCES

Learn how to go greener, at no cost. Register now for the free Brownfields National Conference, where sustainable minds meet.

Looking to create a community garden? Check out EPA's newest public information portal focused on growing greener— with greens!— in our nation's urban areas.

Buying a Superfund site: opportunity or risk? Answers to questions to this and more now available as an on-line resource guide.

Free technical advice for your brownfields program Learn about an ongoing program that provides skillful assistance at every step of your community's redevelopment process, absolutely free of cost.

TALK TO US

To subscribe to The Update e-newsletter, send an email to the editor at kim.lena@epa.gov with the word "Subscribe" in the subject line. We also want your feedback! Email your story ideas and comments to the editor at kim.lena@epa.gov.

EVENTS

APR 3-5 National Brownfields Conference
Philadelphia, PA (see below)

APR 13-15 Design & Construction at Hazardous Waste Sites Conference
Philadelphia, PA

JUN 1-3 Sustainable Remediation Conference
Amherst, MA

BROWNFIELDS 2011

Philadelphia

Join us in Philly April 3-5, 2011 where thousands will convene for the 14th National Brownfields Conference.

- Over 100 dynamic seminars;
- Green tech & sustainability panels;
- Vast networking opportunities;
- Workshops and volunteer events

Register now.

Discover solutions.

www.brownfields2011.org