

Chicago (May 28, 2008) - U.S. Environmental protection Agency's TAGA bus (Trace Atmospheric Gas Analyzer), a specialized mobile air quality laboratory, visits the Countwide Landfill in East Sparta, Ohio.

The TAGA bus is managed by the agency's Edison, N.J.-based Environmental Response Team. The vehicle has been used to assess airborne contaminants at other landfills.