

SmartWay International Summit

On December 2-4, 2008, EPA hosted the first ever SmartWay International Summit: Transforming the Global Supply Chain to discuss collaborative ways to reduce greenhouse gases emissions from goods movement. Representatives from twelve countries (including Australia, Belgium, the E.U., France, Japan, New Zealand, Sweden, Canada and the U.K.) gathered, along with major big box retailers and freight carriers, to share best practices and exchange ideas. Two key themes of the Summit were how to uniformly account for greenhouse gases produced from goods movement, and how to implement sustainable freight programs like SmartWay overseas.

The conference was hosted by U.S. EPA's SmartWay Transport Partnership in cooperation with the University of Michigan's Sustainable Mobility and Access Research Transformation (SMART) and Transportation Research Institute (UMTRI). Conference sponsors included: Sharp Electronics, Con-Way, YRC Worldwide, NYK Logistics Inc., American Trucking Associations, Penske, PACCAR and Navistar.

Now Available!

Federal Excise Tax Exemption for EPA Approved Idling Control Devices is now in effect!

List of Eligible Idling Reduction Devices now posted on the SmartWay Website

EPA has now completed our coordination with the Departments of Energy and Transportation, as well as the IRS. As a result, EPA approved idling reduction devices are excluded from the 12% federal excise tax (FET) under Section 206 of the Energy Improvement and Extension Act of 2008 (EIEA) (PL 110-343).

EPA has published a complete list of idling reduction devices that are eligible for the retail excise tax exemption. The types of idling reduction devices include fuel operated heaters, battery air conditioning systems, auxiliary power units/generator sets, thermal storage systems, and shore connection systems.

The complete list of EPA approved idling reduction devices can be found at:

www.epa.gov/smartway/transport/what-smartway/idling-reduction-fet.htm

EPA will continue to update this list of eligible devices as new products become available and are approved under the product eligibility criteria.

For information regarding the tax exempt status of these idling reduction devices, please refer to the instructions for Form 720, Quarterly Federal Excise Tax Return, found at www.irs.gov. You may also contact Stephanie Bland or Celia Gabrysh from the Internal Revenue Service at (202) 622-3130.

For information regarding the list of EPA approved idling reduction devices, please contact Anthony Erb at (202) 343-9259 or Annie Kee at (202) 343-9218.

SmartWay Partner Webinars

In response to our partners' request to network and exchange information, SmartWay has implemented a series of Partner Webinars. These webinars are held the second Tuesday of each month at 1:30 EST. We are pleased to say that these webinars have been very successful! The turnout and feedback provided from partners has been great. The webinar topics vary from new programs to marketing updates. We encourage you to check the SmartWay website for additions and any changes to the schedule.

www.epa.gov/smartway/transport/partner-resources/webinar-schedule.htm

Upcoming webinars include:

Webinar Topic & Brief Description	Date
SmartWay Tractor & Trailer Discover the benefits of purchasing U.S. EPA Certified SmartWay tractors and trailers for your fleet.	February 10, 2009
International Interest in SmartWay Learn about SmartWay-like programs being instituted around the world and explore effective strategies for addressing environmental impacts of global goods movement.	March 10, 2009
Carriers Interested in Joining SmartWay Learn the process and requirements for trucking companies to become SmartWay Carrier partners.	April 14, 2009

Look for SmartWay at the Washington, DC Auto Show, Feb. 4-8, 2009:
<http://www.washingtonautoshow.com>

This year for the very first time, the Washington DC Auto Show has allocated a "government area" on the show floor for EPA, DOE and DOT to exhibit "Safe, Clean and Efficient" vehicle technologies from each of their agencies. EPA's exhibit booth at the auto show will be hi-lighting SmartWay certified vehicles, along with our "Leaf" and "Little Flower" public service announcements :

<http://epa.gov/smartway/vehicles/smartway-message.htm>

EPA will also be showcasing the development of our diesel-hydraulic hybrid and our collaboration with the American Le Mans Series on their "Green Racing" Initiative.

We hope to see you there!
