EPA-R5-2017-009026	Courtney Okwara	Harvard University	7/3/2017 19:07	Closed	Public Water Supply/Drinking Water I am requesting records on when drinking water in Michigan towns/townships/cities failed to meet the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) regulatory standards since the year 2000. I am looking for the year of the incident, the name of the town/township/city, and a basic description of what the violation was. This request is for my senior thesis research in which I am trying to understand the determining factors impacting a local government's response to a public health crisis, specifically in terms of water quality. The state of Michigan is a case study for my research. I believe this research would have great applicability and use to the public to understand how we can better improve responses on the part of local government's to public health crises and identify issues within our current systems that can be improved.

Please see 49 CFR 195.452 for more on pipeline integrity management, https://www.law.cornell.edu/cfr/text/49/195.452 , and 49 CFR 195.6 for the definition of a drinking water unusually sensitive area (USA), https://www.law.cornell.edu/cfr/text/49/195.6 . What is radon, radium, and carbon dioxide numbers within 10 miles of the Arroyo Grande Oil Field, within the last 5 years? 6. How often do you test the air levels at the Arroyo Grande Oil Field and how do you test the air quality? 7. Is there regulations to governing the handling and disposal of TENR contaminated material and what is the safety problems, storage and transport of radioactive materials and waste products at the Arroyo Grande Oil Field? 8. Does the Arroyo Grande Oil Field give their old pipes to scrap yards and metal reclamation facilities? 9. As you know radium -226 has a half life of 1620 years, so these contaminated sites will be a concern for centuries. Does that statement apply to Arroyo Grande Oil Field? 10. Many of these work sites that take the pipes are within city limits and could be easily be used for residents or commercial purposes, resulting in radon concentrations causing serious health threats. Is there a protocol you are aware of that can prevent these pipes from getting in the hands of public and private business? 11. People cutting oil field pipes are being exposed to alpha - emitting radio, is there a test device available onsite of the person cutting the pipes to alert that person/s to the level in the air? I understand these is a very difficult questions to ask about liabilities for workers, but would like to know if any precautions are available for workers in case of fracking accidents, environmental contamination, workplace exposure to radioactive mater
